For far to long, we as a people, have consistently continued to not only validated the intentional erroneous misdescriptions placed upon us by others who WE ALLOW to act as the designated authorities defining Who We Are. We have not only permitted them to stand as our sanctioned higher authority to PROCLAIM WHAT OUR ANCESTRY IS; we vehemently support and even defend their right to place upon us what ever titles (Indian, Negro, Colored, Latino, Hispanic, Black and/or African-American) they so choose. This impotent behavior is not merely ill advised; this obsessive abandonment of our cultural self-preservation has been "THE" major negative determinants of the self-imposed social marginalization and horrendous infirmities we find ourselves embroiled within to this very today as history continues repeating itself.

Why do we continue to enthusiastically support long recognized inaccuracies and outrageously inappropriate label designations such as calling Aboriginal Indigenous Americans "INDIAN" and/or African-American even when now we know better ? And further, do so to such a great degree of welcomed acceptance that we not only fervently advance ludicrously illegitimate Eurocentric historical inaccuracies; we readily promote and very often actually defend (as truth) the false assertions of these transparent agendas, not only academically in our schools, but even more voluntarily in our own sacred institutions of worship/"BLACK" Churches? Why do we so readily aid and abet the inevitable confusion of our children by not insisting upon a change of school curriculums from those which uses our hard earned (tax) dollars printing erroneous course study books and paying our children's teachers to further such myths as Christopher Columbus DISCOVERING anything?! If you stop to think about it, doesn't it come across to you as even a little bit oddly suspicious, not to mention transparently convenient that the name Christopher Columbus literally translates to "Christianity Colonizing"? \[Click here to access

What common sense, sound logic or insidiously self-destructive design compels us to simply continue the historical status quo of handing over our innocent children's pliable minds to group who's agendas have (historically proven with empirical evidence) never favored our wellbeing?

Why continue allowing others to stand as the Self-appointed Architects of OUR History; when in fact, TRUTH HAS ALWAYS DIFFERED SO DRASTICALLY FROM SO MANY FABRICATED EUROCENTRIC CLIMS? Why do we, with such UNYIELDING CONSISTENCY, continue so enthusiastically to force our children to habitually engrain such toxic falsities as though the Eurocentric fanciful distortions and often flat out lies were even ever true at any point within reality? Why wouldn't our children be aimlessly confused while angry chasing the smoke and mirrors of failed Civil-rights bestowals of days gone by; when their focus should unquestionably be on enforcing their INALIENABLE AND UNALIENABLE GOD GIVEN HUMAN RIGHTS as is protected Under ALL International Law as delineated within the U.S. Ratified Charter guaranteeing globally The Rights of Indigenous People WHICH IN

Anyone of sound mind that is. It would not at all be odd to fine the question “WHO DISCOVERED AMERICA?” as being a question on a Mental Competency Test in which any answer other than Christopher Columbus would be counted as a sign of mental instability. Following this logic, a sign of a healthy mind would be to believe the fictions caricature Columbus also discovered INDIANS.

Appropriately, Public Schools should only teach TRUTH, an example of which would be that the term INDIAN only applies to the people of INDIA, not the Indigenous and/or Aboriginal Natives of this American Continent. And this fact should in turn most certainly be IMMEDIATELY followed by a FULL truthful explanation of who WE, Native Indigenous and Aboriginal American really are.

What is the fear stoping these truth from being told?

This is why such slogans as Say It Loud I'm Black And I'm Proud, BLACK PRIDE IS BLACK POWER and Black Live Matter will remain feckless. The reason for this is metaphysical, physiological and of course LEGAL as has been well understood since the time of Henry Campbell Black, Sigmund Freud and his lesser known yet far more influential nephew Edward Bernays. Understand the possible Bush Family understanding of (not only the legal reason) why identifying one's self as a "BLACK" person IN FACT LEGALLY places yourself into a Social Category and actual legal classification and status known as "Civilliter Mortuus" which LEGALLY, LAWFULLY and LITERALLY means "DEAD IN THE EYS OF THE LAW" ! Another startling FACT which may seem even more bizarre to the average individual is The Legal Definition of "White Person" is: [Referencing Page 1769 of

goes on further to identify the term White Person not only as being us, the indigenous and aboriginal Native American Moors who currently in this country are most commonly referred to as "BLACK and/or African-American"; close inspection of the worlds most reparable Legal Dictionary provides a newfound appreciation of how the term "White Person" is in fact merely a USURPED STATUS Identifier manifested as result of the Naturalization Act of 1790. Studying World Renown Legal References such as the aforementioned Blacks Law Dictionary, BOUVIER'S LAW DICTIONARY and other well respected scholarly works will help one to easily discover the true irony in the well known adage:

"If you want to hide something from BLACK FOLK, put it a Book"

The truth in such idioms become even more apparent when we come to understand such realities as the fact that the term MINORITY has nothing to do with numbers, but in legal terms refers to us as a people not being response-able enough to handle our affairs beyond that of a Minor/Child. That's one reason the National Nightly Network News recently proclaimed: "According to the most recent National Census' Population Assessments, Minorities are now America's New Majority." If it were the number or quantity of individuals they were referring to apposed to the QUALITY and STUSUS comprising our social construct, it would not have been such an oxymoronically transparent truth defining report.

The study of words, their common denotative utilities as well as Etymological Origins which often reveal their true and less well known connotative legal definitions have always struck me as fascinating.

Etymologically Interestingly enough, stemming from the Latin term mare, and a Gothic “Romanization” of the Proto-Italic expression marí*, from the Proto-Indo-European móri*, a legitimate extrapolation of valid linguistic comparisons can be found within the Romanian term mare, meaning:

Mighty: A

Grate and / or Mighty People [With the term Cane having a long standing Etymological association with “That Which Is Standing Up-Right and/or Straight” e.g. a Walking Cane and/or A Stock of Sugar Cane etc., naturally references that which is up-right, like Man (Biblical-anthropomorphically Cain from which derives the Geographical Cannanlan regions or Canada: Land of the Canaanites); linguists have also shown how A-Mare-Can is also an extremely reasonable etymological extrapolative of the phase: A Great and or Mighty Man / A-meri-can/ American. Today the term INDIAN is Officially used as a term of Determination and Designation by the U.S. Federal Government without there even being any clear, concise nor definite definition for the term when referencing the clarification of Tribal Eligibility; but for the sake of communication purposes only, is used here as in its most widely accepted nomenclature. The term "NATIVE" from the middle English word "natif" (Phonetic: Nay-TeeF) meaning: "belonging to a particular place by birth". It is a misconception that the term Native American referred exclusively to the so called American Indian. Just as it's true that anyone born in Washington, D.C. is by all rights a Native Washingtonian, the truth is, anyone born in America or The Americas is a Native American, but not Aboriginal nor Indigenous; which refers LEGALLY to the original inhabitants occupying a land prior to the European invasion. And I use the term occupying here because ownership of land was in fact a European construct. Whereas for us Earth was originally (in the spiritual sense) our provider, not property.

This (Mu-Xian) over time metamorphosed through various dynamics to "Mixian" which in turn became "Mexian" (Pronounced Phonetically: Mex-Shawn) and Mex-shawn-o to what we now pronounce "Mexico". Today, the term "Grater Maghreb" or simply "Maghreb" corresponds roughly to "Barbary". The term "Barbary Coast" emphasizes the Berber coastal regions and cities.

The term "Barbary Coast" emphasizes the Berber coastal regions and cities throughout the middle and western coastal regions of North Africa - what is now Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, and Libya. The English term "Barbary" (and its European varieties: Barbaria, Berbérie, etc.) referred mainly (by many) to the entire Berber lands including non-coastal regions, deep into the continent, as seen in European geographical and political maps published during the 17–20th centuries. The name is derived from the BERBER people of North Africa.

In the West, the name commonly evoked the Barbary clans (many called pirates) and Barbary Slaves Traders based on that coast, who we are told frequently attacked ships and coastal settlements in the Mediterranean and North Atlantic capturing trade, vessels, slaves and goods from Europe, the so called New World and sub-Saharan Africa which were ensued by the Barbary Wars. It is said that the slaves and goods were traded and sold throughout the Moorish Ottoman Empire and depending on certain clandestine circumstances even to the Europeans themselves.

The Mayan's rejected certain spiritual humanitarian practices of their Noble OLMEC ancestry, gravitating more toward mythos of their Manchurian hereditary lineage, and began (we have been told) practices involving human sacrificial bloodletting which brought about their banishment from the sacred region by their more spiritual adept OLMEC Elders who left them only the option of relocation or total destruction.

This accounts for the Mayan Civilization's sudden and smilingly abrupt disappearance from the region without sign of any natural or otherwise cataclysmic occurrence which under most normal circumstances would have left human remains of some form, apposed to the total absence of any such archaeological remains. The greater Mayan forced migration relocated eastward to what we today referred to as "Asia" (wherein Earth itself or Mu/"The Land" or singular world was one all known as Asia) while evidence of other much smaller splintering factions having been found archeologically signs heading on a West-Easterly migration toward and into what is now known historically as Asia Minor, a geographic region in the further South-Western regions of Asia comprising most of what is in present-day the geographical regions of Turkey. Early reference to this region comes from tablets of the Akkadian Dynasty (2334-2083 BCE) where it is known as "The Land of the "Hatti" and was inhabited by the Hittites who themselves referred to the land as "Assuwa" (or, earlier, Aswiya) which actually only designated the area around the delta of the river Cayster in Lydia yet after time came to be applied to the greater region.

(As time transitioned much further to a period following the fall of Macedonia, the region took on the name "Anatolia" (literally, 'place of the rising sun', for those lands to the east. This of course was long prior to the heathenish reign of Philip (of Macedonia) or the blood drenched plunderings of his Son (Alexander) happened upon our highly civilized ancient forbears' Kemetian/Egyptian culture.

The delta region would in its distant future come to be known as Greece, which the Europeans still identify as being the Birthplace of “their” cultural Civilization.

The much greater compliment of the migrating banish Mayan tribesmen mixed with those of the South Eastern Indigenous Mongolian tribes bringing into being the ANGKOR who's modern day name is

Cambodian which provides cause for a greater appreciation as to why many ancient Cambodian Temple Ruins reflect the architectural hereditaments of their Mayan Empire's ancestry, even more especially so with the understanding that the word Mayan itself means “illusion” and/or vanished.

What we find emerging within this cultural exploration is a broader understanding of the term MOORISH itself reflecting a much more vast and diversified universality significance which may at first elude the newly awakening novice in their quest's initial sojourns in their pursuit of truth and navigation toward their ultimate destination; seeking a greater understanding of self, their place within our sea of humanity, our Universe and of course ultimately, our Creator, into which one day we shall all no doubtably again return.

The extremely brave Seminoles of the Creek Confederacy (whose language was called Muskogean) were noted for their fierce and long resistance of the European's bloody relentless encroachments on their Families and Lands.

Following countless brutal massacres of men, woman and children, and many thousands of scorched villages, quite a many Seminole were forcefully marched to distant internment areas (Reservations) with vast numbers sold, bartered and trafficked as Enslaved Chattel in exchange for provisions required to feed the mass migration which became another tributary of what has come to be known as "The Trail of Tears" to the distant territory of Oklahoma.

(The word Oklahoma was formed from two Choctaw words "okla" and "humma" describing the territory as now being "a land of much spilt red blood of humans," The seminoles merging into Andrew Jackson's devastating Cherokee Nation forced relocation (Act of 1830) in which Tens of Thousands others also died enroute as result of the Intentional Poisoning of Blankets used during the brutal winter death march, sheds some insight into how Muskogee Oklahoma came to be.)

For those fortunate enough to have survive the arduous horrifying ordeals; unfamiliarity of the locals' Mother Tong (Regional Dialects) were far less likely to risk the lives of their surviving loved ones attempting the dangerously grueling return to Florida (Land of Flowers) without food, water nor knowledge of any safe route back to their destroyed villages, stolen lands and plundered property already long since resettled by the Murderous European Marauders who had driven them from their indigenous homelands which their aboriginal forbearers inhabited for countless millennia since time immemorial.

A rose by any other name . . .

Genetically, the accouchement of the Pueblo and Manso tribes was a direct result of the ungrudging relations effectuated between the Hoshan's East Yi

Manchurian immigrants and the autochthonous Indigenous Olmec, giving rise to the Heterogeneous Aboriginal American Tribes of North America which culturally as well as genetically supports the synonymous constitution of our brethren erroneously referred to today as Mexican; which is a term not derived from the above legitimate anthropological explanations, but rather as a byproduct of ignorant Eurocentric predacious and the physical introduction of artificial borders established by the systematic encroachments of the European land grabbers who's progeny today

unfortunately continue to promote with similar ill willed convictions, Asiatic Moors may also aid in providing a more substantial scientific alternative understanding of our vast diversity culturally as well as phenotypically (the many obvious and pronounced observable visual characteristic differences in hair types, skin tone, bone and muscle structures resulting from the interaction of biologically diverse genotypes which emerged as a result of variant physical environments.) This also helps us to appreciate how the more common explanation of Slave Rape is not by any means nor measure the exclusive reason for our vast diversity. Just as there is in nature endless shades, hues and divergences of visual distinction among every species of being, be it plant animal and/or mineral which is clearly not due to artificial manipulation. We too, as a product of nature have naturally evolved contrasts which account for our vast and magnificent spectrum of natural beauty aside from that which our limited educations have provided. And as a side note: My statement which included “minerals” as being applicable to species was not an error. Mineral was purposely as well as rightfully noted in this context even though it is well understood that by Western standards such substances (solid inorganic material i.e. the elements found within our periodic table) would not be included in any reference to species. The big however is, elements should be included among the list of living entities. Although Western philosophy would not categorize mineral(s) among aspects of nature which he would considered as living beings, elements are (despite what we have been taught to respect as forms of life) are in fact life forms. An excellent reference to further your understanding as to why this is so may be found within T.H. Burgoyne’s book entitled “The Light of Egypt” (The Science of The Should and The Stars, Vol 1 & 2) in which it is explain that although the particular form and/or quality of life existing as an aspect of

THE NATIVE AMERICAN MOOR

Mineral is not necessarily what we would in the most normal of circumstances LIVING, it they are still nevertheless ALIVE, in that all although a mineral's quality or quantity of SENTIENCE (its conscious capacity to perceive) is not as pronounced as is in the more advanced cosmological biology of plant, insects, animals or even lesser sentient beings (e.g. Viruses, Bacteria and/or even other lower single-cell life forms lacking free will and freedom of thought.)

And although not possessing life as we would normally interpret or define life, it, Mineral is none the less alive. It's merely on a much more primal level. And like the cells of our body which are (all one hundred billion of them) individual life forms within them-selves; some working as units (like the cell of our heart, liver, skin and all of our other organs) all being themselves simply variant configurations of mineral matter working as units with their own individual specific tasks operating in unison to sustain in you what we call life. So is true regarding minerals which make up our Earth which is as our ancient forbearers so well understood is no less alive than are you or I. The life she possesses is simply different, not nonexistent. And, we hue-man existing upon her are in nature similar to the microbes which reside upon us or even more synonymously, as the symbiotic microbes living harmoniously within our digestive track, responsible for the digestion of the nourishment we consume; minute semi-sentient beings of which, without, we would ourselves sense to exist upon our Mother Earth.

Now, although the most recently imparted information may have felt as if aspects were a departure from our subject, it was by no means so for the simple fact that the ELEMENTal chemistry, physics and other basic biological science(s) we have been exploring above are all intrinsically essential aspect of our Indigenous and Aboriginal Native American cultural heritage. And just as the wise healers of the various above noted tribes from which we all have spawn understood the nature of these transcendental realities, we too still possess the spiritual (genetic memory) capacity. And these are the matters in which our beloved Indigenous and Aboriginal Cherokee Moor of old did so wisely name

South West and West Coast were further diversified along their various migration routes. The darker hued extractions were those which retain greater degrees of their original Olmec blood e.g. The Arapaho, Arikara, Blackfoot, Cheyenne, Crow, Apache, Mandan, Pawnee and Shoshoni. All of this diversity took place prior to the Fifteenth Century arrival of the European ((European) Spaniards, British, French, Italian and Portuguese)) at which time, as you are no doubt aware, much greater change came about. Earlier arriving interbreeding European's (prior to the Fifteenth Century major migration following the fall of the Moors of Spain) brought about such brave and noble tribes as The Apache who were one of the last to serenade following the so called "Indian Wars" Geronimo (Mescalero-Chiricahua: [from the South Athabaskan language] Goyaałé [kòjà:łé] Meaning: "The one who yawns"; June 16, 1829 – February 17, 1909) was a prominent leader from the Bedonkohe band of the Chiricahua APACHE clan. From 1850 to 1886 Geronimo joined together three other Chiricahua Apache bands—the Chihenne, the Chokonon and the Nednhi—to carry out numerous raids as well as fears resistance to U.S. and so called "Mexican" military campaigns in the northern Mexico states of Chihuahua and Sonora, and in the southwestern American territories of New Mexico (my Native Territory) and Arizona.

Many of the older much darker hued tribes of more pure Olmec blood who refused to interbreed nor interface in any manner with the encroaching European's were totally eradicated, while others who refused to assimilate, as we are now most certainly aware from our own fragmented personal family remembrances, were enslaved and over a short phase of two to three generations forced into varying degrees of ignorance of self. Under threat and duress our forbearers were forced to miseducate our Grate Grandparents as children and forced to perpetuate the lie of having been brought to this continent as part of the African slave trade for fear the children being taken, sold and/or worse killed as a reason to others, as was most certainly the case if we were to have risked teaching our children the ability to retaining the ability to read. Reading and education of any kind would lead to knowing the truth. And just as our schools even today remain by far sorily substandard in a land of plenty, the system's fear of us commingling into an understanding of self remains as dreadful in their minds as ever. "Civilliter Mortuus" : LEGALLY,

LAWFULLY and LITERALLY "DEAD IN THE EYES OF THE LAW" (as explained above) is clearly evidenced not only by America's failed local economies' cannibalistic dependence on the incarceration of children and America's refusal to prosecute murderous acts perpetrated upon our children by member of their Civilian Armed Forces.

We, Native Aboriginal and Indigenous Moorish Americans were in fact simply re-transplanted along the coastlines to various regions in which we were culturally as well as geographically unfamiliar. An example of this would be enslaving darker hues Native American populations from Florida and transporting them along the coast line to far more distant regions such as Main, Charleston South Carolina, Mississippi or elsewhere to be sold on the blocks as slave from Africa. A reviewing of the movie Twelve Years A Slave will assist one's understanding of how such practices continued even after the further enslavement was prohibited in Northern states after the development of the cotton gin enriched the South causing deep economic disparities for Northerners and the Civil War which would ensue (between the rich Masons of the North and their now richer brethren of the South.) The Civil War never was about Slavery. It was purely a war of economics.

If you may remember, in the Movie ROOTS, Kunta Kinte was referred to as The African (from the banks of the Gambian River) by others who were enslaved on the plantation where the story took place. The Native American victims enslaved there prior to Kunta's transport from the Maryland African Slave Trader's Block to the Virginia plantation (as a truthful teaching of factual American history would explain,) were all Native Indigenous Americans Aboriginal to the North, South and Central American and adjoining island regions transplanted from their Native American Villages, Towns and yes Cities via the Baltimore enslavement routes to Spotylvania County.

Other aboriginal and indigenous sub-set tribes of the ancient Olmec which were also nearly obliterated by the Europeans (such as the Inca) were culturally usurped and historically re-minted by terms such as Latino or other misdescribed erroneously coined bastardizations e.g. “Hispanic” coined by Ronal Regain are only now most recently reestablishing their noble roots through the admirable activities of new emerging enlightened activist of individuals such as Olin Tezcatlipoca and other evolutionists of the Nican Tlaca’s Mexica Movement, who in fact are the surviving prodigy of the Supe Caral Nican Tlaca Civilization of Peru (which authorities say dates back to as much as 3700 B.C. and perhaps further) and other lands devastated by the atrocities carried out upon them.

As for the ancient darker tribes of the Olmecs which duo-migration re-populated as Easter Islanders while others spread to regions we would now identify a Jamaica, Haiti, Trinidad, Barbados and adjoining islands establishing colonies of which tribally came to be known as Arawaks. The same in which were also erroneously misidentified by the fabricators of the Christopher Columbus Mythos much later in the mid Eighteen Hundreds. The tribes which migrated to Haiti gravitated to african Yoruba religions (“erroneously coined Voodoo” by European’s). The Arawaks’ mixed with the Portuguese producing “Taino” who were some of which migrated to the Caribbean. Other Olmecan tribes traveled north bringing into existence the Washo meaning (raccoon People) because of their elaborate facial art. These tribes settled areas of Alabama, Mississippi, Luisiana and Georgia. The Washo mixing with Malian Moors of Africa brought into existence a much darker Bassa people called the Yamasee direct decedents of the OLMEC via the Washitaw Moors (a linguistic derivative of Wichita which is also tribally Kitikitish again meaning Raccoon eyes from which arose the Eurocentric negative derivation COON.) Many of the Yamasee lived near the Macon, Georgia area where many Mounds and Pyramids still remain even to this day to be rediscovered. The Yamasee are the genetic Mother Tribe of the Creeks, Seminoles, Apalachees, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Catawbas and Cherokee.

with the Native Aboriginal Moorish Americans, yet these unions were not always by choice of free will or natural selection, but as breeders would implement forced sexual encounter as a means to populate their plantation's work force.

In 1715 a notable Yamasee uprising marks one point of resistance within the many "murderous invasions" taking place which Eurocentric Historians call The Indian Wars.

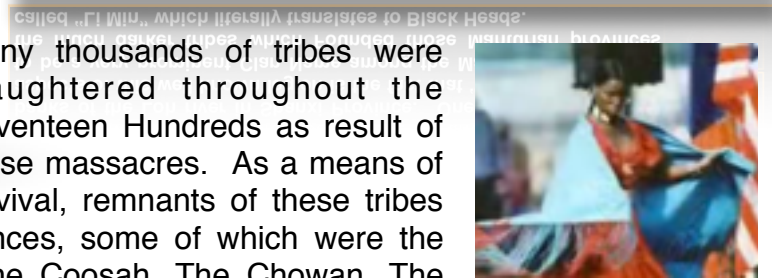

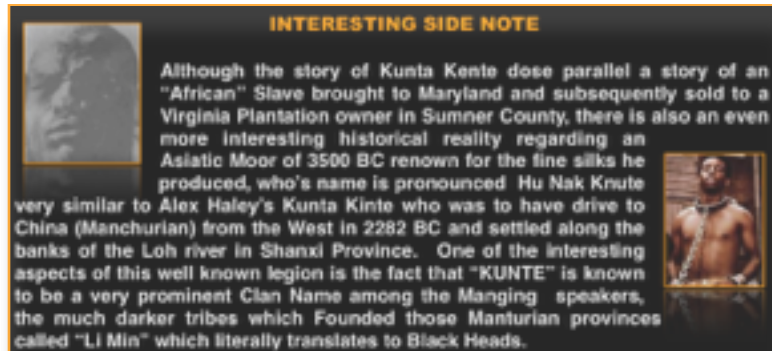

banned together to create alliances, some of which were the Yamasee (mentioned above) The Coosah, The Chowan, The Cocnoee, Mesuwa and Congaree. After the collapse of the coalition's efforts to withstand the continuing influx and violent encroachments pushing even further inward and across the continent many of those who survived found themselves pushed further southwardly regions of Florida mixing along the way with Africans as well as the Indigenous Native Moorish runaways or in certain native tongs "Seminole", while others took on the tribal names Oconokee, Allaucha and Hitachi of which certain Counties, Rivers and other landmarks are to this day named. Other examples of such practices of area's retaining tribal names are (phonetically)

Talahassee, Penaseecolah, Chatahucree, Chokatah, Micanopy and literally many thousands of others across America in all states excluding none.

Much of the Natural Tribal Earth Knowledge and understanding of not only natural indigenous eatable "wilderness" plants, flora, herbs, spices, roots (e.g. Potatoes, Carrots, Yams, Radishes and the like) were readily at the disposal of those seeking freedom from the intruding foreigners, bushwhackers and bounty profiteers; astrological knowledge of the heavens and their placement in relation to geographical direction were key elements for those who were fortunate enough to escape the brutal conditions in which captivity became a natural dramatic condition for generations.

Notable astrological sky-markers such as the North Star, as well as understanding how certain particular plant-life, e.g. mushrooms, wild gains, flora cabbages, and certain species of moss growing on particular sides of certain trees as well as the manner in which particular plants adapt to certain aspects of Nature's geographical territorial markers, allowed some who had retained more of their ancient ancestral tribal knowledge a slight advantage over others in their attempts to find their ways to freedom (Cannanland/Canada/The Land of Cain as in the Cananights) Some of the Wise, Brave and Noble ones (as we well know) traveled back and forth from areas in the deep South to areas far North on a continual basis lending their knowledge of navigating the the extremes of the varied terrain, the astrological heavens and Natural Agricultural Sciences. It is just that the connection of such notable individuals are as a part of the normal public school curriculum never connected (or in actuality intentionally broken), nor are their indigenous ancestral knowledge of old ever linked to their true ancestral lineage, Moors. Instead, we were simply taught, so and so was a former slave or so and so was a child of slaves. And from that we are supposed to extrapolate that they are referring to African Slaves, not what was in reality a much greater number of Aboriginal and Indigenous Americans internationally recognized as far back as history has recorded as MOORS. So when you in the future hear of or are told or taught of a notable historical individual of the past, resist the urge to allow your mind to simply reverting to the pre-programmed thought that the individual they are referencing is automatically a dependent of African Slaves, when in fact as reality would more properly dictate, the chances and likelihood that the individual is of Moorish American decent (if your talking about someone from The America's) is far, far more likely to be of Aboriginal and Indigenous Decent than any others by the simple logic of mathematical realities. In that, the far greater majority of those who would in most normal unfortunate circumstances of today be identified by their BRAND Names: Negro, Black, Colored and/or African-American are in fact Moorish American. And in actually, the same is true to an extremely significant degree regarding those of a darker hue (as you have learned above) who have been BRANDED American Indian and/or Latino or Hispanic.
